EDWARD KEEPS THRONE, DEFIES CABINET

Baldwin—shaken.

BALDWIN

To the King:

"I must give you my opinion without hesitation, but with extreme regret, realizing the gravity of the situation.

"There is no question that Parliament, and the Cabinet as well, will be in complete agreement on preferring your abdication to your marriage."

Mrs. Wally Simpson—rocks empire.

KING

To Baldwin:

"It will not be necessary for you to wait 14 days for my decision. I intend to give it to you much sooner."

Then, in reply to a query whether he would meet a group headed by the Archbishop of Canterbury:

"I don't want to talk to anyone but you. I will give you my answer."

King—defiant.

The King's Middle Class
What Happened to Becket
A Pretty Good Country

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(Copyright, 1936, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

If you have imagined at any time that the United States has lost its interest in kings, titles and nobility turning away from such things in its complete, unphased democracy, look at your newspaper and see how many columns and pictures it prints about Britain's King and his proposed marriage (this time) and observe, if you dare, the general subject of conversation.

Future historians will wonder at the attack of middle-class hysteria now trying to rule the "ruler" of the British Empire.

An empire willing to rely on the accident of birth for its chief magistrate is exciting because the agreeable young man who happens to wear the crown and the title "King" wishes to marry an estimable young woman, who would make his life happy in a perfectly respectable way, making it unnecessary for him to imitate some of his not far-off ancestors that had no wish, for respectability, in London and crossed the channel to Paris for their real interest in life.

It will be interesting to see what King Edward of England will do in this emergency. Some kings of England would have said: "Mr. Stanley Baldwin, you and others are the middle class and should know the duties of the middle class toward their king. I am the King of England and shall show you what your duties are, also that the rights of a king include the right to marry as he pleases, regardless of middle class hypocrisy."

This writer, by trade a reporter, talking to the present English King in New York, when he was Prince of Wales, asked: "Which of all kings in England's history would you rather resemble?"

The prince, at that time, had not made up his mind. You can imagine what sort of work one of the greatest English monarchs who happened to be a woman, Queen Elizabeth, would have made of any interference with her private plans. But modern kings are shrinking in importance and democracy, the other word for the middle class, is increasing in power.

The Right Reverend Bunt, Bishop of Bradford, invokes the "Power of God" to inspire the King to do his duty faithfully.

PUPIL STRIKE PEACE PACT REJECTED

Leaders of Wellesley's four-day old school strike offered peace terms today, but the school committee retorted that it would be satisfied with nothing less than full surrender.

Furthermore, Superintendent of Schools Edwin H. Miner declared, the strike is in a state of "open" rebellion. James D. Hynes, chairman of the parents' advisory committee of the Parents-Teachers Association of the Wellesley and Hyde schools, offered to call off the strike if the school board would submit to arbitration the matter of doubling up grades.

The school committee members, in a special session, answered that they must have the privilege of handling their own problems and that no state-appointed arbitrator would be permitted.

KING'S ROMANCE MAY NET YOU CASH

By ANN MARSTERS
You've been talking about it—of course you have. You've been talking about the King and Mrs. Simpson. And haven't you been telling your friends what YOU would do if you were King Edward? Or what YOU would do if you were Wallis Simpson? At the very least, you've been thinking about it, turning this exciting romance over in your mind. So here is your chance to profit by your opinions on the subject.

DUKE OF YORK, KING AND WALLY CONFER

BULLETINS

London, Dec. 3 (INS)—Rumors King Edward is planning to abdicate swept through the lobbies of the House of Commons this afternoon after Premier Baldwin refused to make a statement on the crisis precipitated by the King's marriage plans.

The rumors stated abdication papers were in the process of being drawn up.

London, Dec. 3 (INS)—The Archbishop of Canterbury, head of the Church of England, had an interview with Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin in the House of Commons late today.

London, Dec. 3 (AP)—Locked in historic empire crisis, King Edward of England and Stanley Baldwin, his first minister, stubbornly stood their ground today in abject opposition over the King's affections for Wallis Warfield Simpson.

Ensnared in his guarded Fort Belvedere retreat with both Mrs. Simpson and his brother, the heir presumptive, Duke of York, the bachelor head of the House of Windsor let it be known he will never surrender to Prime Minister Baldwin.

The King has made up his mind to keep both his throne and his friendship for Mrs. Simpson, one of the highest sources in the Kingdom told the Associated Press today.

Baldwin, in an unprecedented House of Commons setting, stood, white and stubborn, to say: "I have no statement to make on a constitutional crisis."

Clement R. Attlee, opposition leader, who reputedly has sided with Baldwin against the King in the Prime Minister's demand that Edward relinquish the American divorcee, asked, as the tense members of Parliament and the amazed citizens of the Empire waited: "I would like to ask the prime minister on private motion a question—whether any constitutional difficulties have arisen and whether he has any statement to make."

Baldwin replied: "I have no statement to make today. While there does not at present exist any constitutional difficulty, Continued on Page 8, Column 4.

4000 RUSSIANS UNITED TO BATLE NAZIS IN SPAIN

WOMEN VOLUNTEER AS FIVE AIR RAIDS BACK MADRID

London, Dec. 3 (INS)—Russia's reply to reports that Germany has sent 6000 troops to Spain to help the rebels, according to a Daily Mirror Warsaw dispatch today, was the mobilization of 4000 volunteer Russian volunteers, including a large number of women, ready to leave for loyalist Spain.

By THOMAS A. LOATZA

Madrid, Dec. 3 (INS)—Hidden behind a fog blanket which covered the capital, a score of rebel airplanes bombed Madrid today in a new attempt to wreck the stubborn defenders.

Seven trim-motored bombers and 13 pursuit planes heavily bombed the university city sector in the northwestern part of the city, and also rained a deadly explosive attack upon other loyalist front-line positions.

ATTACK CRACK BRIGADE
In coordination with the air raid, a column of insurgents launched a bitter attack upon the crack "International Brigade" of Loyalists in the university city area.

Smashing victories on four distant fronts and destructive air raids in three sectors were announced by Rebel radio today.

While Madrid was claimed as a victory point by the insurgents, the entire shattered city remained in Loyalist hands at the price of hundreds of dead in the five worst bombing raids of the war, coupled with hunger and, it is reported, new desertions within the government.

Santander and Victoria were the centers of successful bombing expeditions, besides Madrid, by swift flying rebel aircraft, the Salamanca radio stated. Shells rained there on loyalist military concentrations.

500 LEFTISTS KILLED
Five hundred leftists were killed in fighting on the Santander and Valencia fronts, according to the Tenerife radio. Hitler fighting had suddenly been resumed at those points.

A loyalist assault on Villarreal was repulsed with 150 leftists slain, Tenerife reported.

The struggle just northwest of Madrid for the Becerra road, around Boddilla and Pozuelo, resulted in the death of 5000 leftists in three days, according to rebel reinforcements at Talavera De La Reina.

Twenty-five thousand dead, said reports which were emphatically denied in Madrid, is the toll for the nearly four weeks' siege of the capital.

In order to reduce losses, Premier Francisco Largo Caballero and other government leaders urged that troops be withdrawn from Madrid and concentrate on defense of the temporary capital at Valencia, said an unconfirmed report.

RUSSIANS REFUSE
But Russian fighters, backed by Gen. Jose Miaja, head of the Madrid military defense junta, refused on the ground that collapse of Madrid would mean the end of resistance in all Spain.

Barcelona today reported the arrest of 100 members of the Fascist "Klax" Corps, including the general secretary, Torres Pons, in an alleged plot to assassinate principal members of coalition government.

Others died.

A car parked at the corner of Brattle and Sparks streets, Cambridge, looked very familiar to Melville Harp of Suffolk street, Chelsea, today as he was riding with his sister-in-law to work in Watertown.
He got out to make another inspection. The model was the same as his. The color and upholstery were alike and so were the number plates.
He notified Cambridge police and sent his car, which he reported stolen last night in Chelsea police. Harp proved his ownership and was given the car.

ROOSEVELT AT MONTEVIDEO, HAILS DEMOCRACY GAINS

By GEORGE DURN
International News Service Staff Correspondent
Montevideo, Uruguay, Dec. 3.—Democratic government is the greatest safeguard for changing conditions in the world, President Roosevelt declared today in an address during welcoming ceremonies by President Terra of Uruguay.

Mr. Roosevelt paused here for a few hours en route home to the cruiser Indianapolis, following the opening of the inter-American conference for maintenance of peace at Buenos Aires.

The President praised the Uruguayan for the "great advance" he and they have made "in behalf of the well-being of our citizens."

"The first battlefield of peace," Mr. Roosevelt said, "is that of the well-being of our citizens."

He called attention to the great changes that time has wrought since the day of President Monroe when the United States first entered the world scene.

He said that none of the failures of the American republic had been heard of an eight-hour day, of minimum wage, of protection for women and children, of collective bargaining between employers and employees, of comprehensive education, of the telephone, the radio, the automobile or of travel by air.

"And yet, you and I are very certain that the world is better today, the founders of our government would be proud to have approval on what we are seeking to do to use the practices of democratic government to solve the new problems," the President said.

NEW CONDITIONS
"Every moment in all the world has been compelled to recognize the fact of new conditions. It is of the utmost importance that the nations of the new world have found it possible under vigorous leadership to find the answer within the spirit and the framework of constitutional government and democratic procedure."

"We have not completed our task. In accordance with the objectives and theory of democratic government, that task is a continuing one."

"We seek new remedies for new conditions; new conditions will continue to arise; sometimes the remedies succeed, and sometimes they must be altered or improved. But the net result is that we move forward."

KING'S ROMANCE MAY NET YOU CASH AWARD

Evening American, 3 Westling square, Boston.

If you were a King . . . That is a thing to dream about, a thing that many of you that dream of about at some time or another. But now the King is facing a very grave problem that his to do with his love and his kingdom.

If you were King, would you marry Mrs. Simpson regardless of what the Cabinet or the Prime Minister had to say about it? Would you marry her and make her Queen and stand by her, come what may? Or would you refuse love for your kingdom?

If you were Wally Simpson . . . There may be a lot of American women who would like very much to be in Wally's place—and if you were, what would you do?

The most interesting episode will be printed every day in the Boston Evening American—and it may mean a prize of $1 to you—$24 you.

CASE OF GEORGE IV

There has never been any parallel to this problem in the history of the English Empire. The nearest to it is the case of George IV who, when he was prince, fell in love with Mrs. Fitzherbert. That was around 1785.

He loved the wife of Mary Anne Fitzherbert, and in 1785, they were secretly married. But the marriage was out of consideration by the royal family—none by anyone else, except the lovers themselves. Many years later, the situation reversed itself. In 1826, George IV (though legal) married to Princess Caroline.

He left directions in his will that a booklet with Mary Anne's miniature, which he always wore, should be buried with him.

Such things make us suspect that the expression "happy as a king" hasn't very much meaning.

Of course we can't be sure just what the present King will do about it. But they're here to be an obstacle to the members of the English royal family.

VICTORIA STUBBORN

Queen Victoria, for instance, was willful and stubborn, and she refused to let her own plans without consent of the cabinet.

King Edward, you know, is Victoria's great-grandson. He will follow the English will, but in a traditional way.

Now there may be a lot of strange thoughts going on in the mind of Wally Simpson. This is the unknown quantity for no one knows what King will do. It is just thinking that perhaps you can imagine and perhaps you can make for her and the success of her romance with a king. Perhaps you can.

But whether you think, write it down and send it to the editor, a lot of disapproval on the subject and that is to be expected. To make this contest an interesting.

Ellsworth Denies 'Flight' by King

London, Dec. 3 (INS)—A second American-London Ellsworth, the explorer, was reported today that King Edward marriage crisis today.

Ellsworth was called to Buckingham Palace late yesterday by the king. Following his visit the Press Association circulated the following report:

"The Press Association learns authoritatively the king is negotiating for sale of his Canadian ranch to Lord Elmsley, the well-known American explorer."

Ellsworth told International News Service he wanted, to continue "the strongest possible denial" to reports he had purchased the king's ranch or was holding himself in readiness to do so. King Edward and Mrs. Simpson showed, or to in any other way assist them in their private affairs.

Still the reports persisted. Some Press commentators pointed out, it was extremely unusual for Ellsworth to have been called to the palace during yesterday's crisis—undoubtedly the gravest to that time the young monarch ever had experienced.

KING DEFIES BALDWIN

Copyright, 1936, by International News Service

London, Dec. 3 (INS)—King Edward informed Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin today he will answer the premier's abdication demand "much sooner" than the fortnight period he was given in which to reply.

Before receiving his advisers at Fort Belvedere this morning, the King telephoned Baldwin.

"It will not be necessary for you to wait fourteen days for my decision," he said, "I intend to give it to you much sooner."

Baldwin asked if the King would receive a committee composed of himself, former Prime Minister James Ramsay MacDonald and the Archbishop of Canterbury at Belvedere on Sunday.

"No," replied the King. "I don't want to talk to anyone but you. I will give you my answer."

GOBBLE UP LOVE NEWS

London, Dec. 3 (AP)—Thundering and roaring at top speed, the great press of London's daily newspapers, many unable today to supply the demand for news and more news about the royal romance, "triangle"—King Edward, Mr. American-born friend, Mrs. Wally Simpson, and his prime minister, Stanley Baldwin.

Never since the announcement of the armistice ending the World War, just a little over 14 years ago, news dealers could have the inhabitants of London been so excited about a news story or have more vendors done such a rushing business.

NEWSPAPER "GO AMERICAN"

Street salesmen sold out their copies within a few blocks of their paper offices and hastened back to collect a new story or have more vendors done such a rushing business.

The demand was so great only a few of the first editions reached the suburbs. Newsboys actually shouted their wares full-throatedly in the American way instead of standing quietly displaying their placards after their usual fashion.

Most readers were amazed at the thoroughness with which the papers covered every phase of the case. From the start of the friendship between Edward and Mrs. Simpson, through the gossip and proceedings, down to the present dangerous impasse, the papers blanketed the affair.

To most of the readers the whole story previously known was a rumor, vague and unimportant in the eyes of the public.

Every London paper, although it had not presented a line, has for months been "covering" the story like it was a four-star fire.

Bill Would Speed Further Compensation

Further liberalization of the workmen's compensation act so that payments for injuries would begin the day after the worker was hurt, instead of eight days after the injury, is called for in a bill filed at the State House by Representative Francis W. Irwin of East Boston.

A similar bill passed the House at the last session but was killed in the Senate.

Sewage Report Filed

Complete elimination of the dumping of sewage in Boston harbor would cost the city and towns of the Metropolitan sewage district $30,000,000, the special agent created to study the subject reported today to the House of Representatives.

CROWDS AWAIT KING'S RETURN

London, Dec. 3 (INS)—Large crowds gathered outside Buckingham Palace and Marlborough House today when it was learned King Edward probably would return to London from Fort Belvedere shortly.

The King was expected to see Prime Minister Baldwin at Buckingham about 9 a. m.

Judge Sentences Lifetime Friend

Rutland, Vt., Dec. 3 (Three men, from above, looked each other in Superior Court today, with only the barred rail of state justice intervening.)

One of them was Judge John B. Butts, another a sub said.

"In accordance with the statutes of the State of Vermont, I sentence you to a suspended term of six months to one year in the common jail, and you must pay a fine of $100."

Another, the man on the far side of the rail, Ernest Lathrop H. Baldwin of the Marble Savings Bank, stood, blinking back his tears, while his attorney appealed.

The third, Judge Rutland's associate, Edwin H. Burdett, of this town, a boyhood friend and neighbor of Baldwin, buried his face in his kerchief.

WALLY NEWS FIRST IN AMERICAN BRIDAL FORETOLD IN OCTOBER

The Boston Evening American and Associated Hearst newspapers were the first papers in the world to present to their readers the unusual significance of the romance of King Edward VIII and Mrs. Wally Simpson, which has precipitated a serious constitutional controversy in the British Empire.

The king's plan to marry Mrs. Simpson, which now finds the king out his prime minister at odds, and which may result in resignation of the Baldwin cabinet, first was disclosed in this newspaper last October 26.

At that time the Boston Evening American and Associated Hearst papers published an exclusive dispatch from London revealing for the first time the monarch's determination to wed Mrs. Simpson.

Foretold Marriage

Another exclusive story from London appearing in this newspaper asserted last Nov. 9 that the King and Mrs. Simpson would be married in the private chapel of Buckingham Palace. After the marriage the dispatch said, she would take one of the King's dual titles of Duchess of Lancaster or of Cornwall.

This was one of the outcomes of the present situation mentioned in the king's abdication.

The Nov. 9 exclusive story in this newspaper pointed out that the king was determined to ignore his royal prerogatives, if necessary, to overcome objections to his marriage.

No Puppet

Last January, in a series of "England's New Bachelor King" by Alton C. Parker, the Boston Evening American published the following reference to the king's independence in King Edward's marriage:

"Edward VIII may be surprised by constitutional barriers that obstruct a British king, but Britain has not got a puppet as the throne."

The admirable fun-loving youth that America saw, with a nod of view established by the past conflict, with a mind of his own and a spirit touched by the ferment of this age, may find a way to assert himself among the courtiers, the staffed shirts and the other statesmen."

ASK DOMINIONS VIEWS ON WALLY

London, Dec. 3 (INS)—The British government is consulting the Dominions regarding possible settlement of the dispute over King Edward's marriage plans, it was reported in Parliamentary quarters tonight.

No announcement will be made concerning the move until reports have been received.

Ottawa, Ont., Dec. 3 (INS)—Official Canada yesterday night what unprecedented effect upon the abdication of Edward VIII would have on the union and the commonwealth of which she is a part.

Britain's throne, under the statute of Westminster, which determines the status of the far-flung Dominions is the only viable sign of the British Empire.

Since empire statements announced at the Imperial conference in London in 1926, set the British constitution on paper in a new and mutually agreeable form, its throne alone has been commensurately.

Queen Mary Quits Residence; May See King, Wally

London, Dec. 2 (INS)—After a review of family conference bearing on the romance of King Edward and Mrs. Wally Simpson, Queen Mary suddenly left Marlborough House this afternoon for an unknown destination.

During the day, the widow queen received various members of her family in the traditional residence of British's dowager queen.

The royal was last seen with the Duke of York, who rushed to London from Scotland when the crisis developed. This came the Duchess of Gloucester and Lady Prince Arthur of Connaught.

The queen has given an outward indication of her feelings in the matter and is reported to be upset over the grave situation that has developed and is depending upon her family for consolation and advice.

Pulmotor Saves Strangling Baby

Police and firemen, after working for an hour, today saved the life of a Revere baby nearly strangled by bed clothes.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Perkins of Page street found their son John, one year old, blue in the face in his crib shortly after midnight.

They called the police. Patrolman Maynard Rogers responded while firemen were bringing a pumper, and he worked over the child until the firemen arrived. Dr. Henry Nigro pronounced the baby out of danger shortly after 1 o'clock.

10,000 Students Enter American History Test

More than 10,000 girls and boys attending Massachusetts high schools have entered the Boston Evening American's Roosevelt Inauguration Tour Competition.

Communications from principals and teachers indicate every school in the state will be represented when entries are submitted, between December 6 and December 11.

And in several cities and towns the entire student population has entered the contest. To assist students many teachers plan to collect the replies from their history classes and mail them to the Boston Evening American.

EDUCATION A JUDGE
These teachers realize that being one of the 20 students selected for the trip to Washington is not only a great honor for the fortunate girl but a real education for her school.

Communications of Elizabeth James, G. H. Hadden, and Katherine J. Hadden, all members of the board of judges for the contest, have been received. They all express the hope that all young men and women attending Massachusetts high schools will take advantage of the opportunity to see President Roosevelt inaugurate his January 20 term.

Other judges are several leading educators in New England and men and women outstanding in scientific and civic movements. Their names will be announced in time.

CONDENSE ANSWERS
Today's question deals with a subject that is discussed in books devoted to President Grover Cleveland and his affirmative Americanism. It is:

"What was the historical importance of President Grover Cleveland's message to the Venezuela complication?"

The answer may be found in every history textbook, although most students can give it offhand, without a moment's preparation.

The second rule of the competition gives girls and boys an EXTRA work in preparing their answers to submit them in the Boston Evening American. This increase in the number of entries is to be made in the preparation of the answers. It is by no means necessary.

Answers must be written on a kind of paper—pink and ink or even with lead pencil.

They do not have to be involved or complicated. A simple statement of the information asked for in few words as possible is best.

This makes it easy for the freshmen to have just as good a chance to be in a Pulitzer fund for Washington as the seniors or juniors.

QUESTIONS REPEATED
The contest is open to students who have as far failed to enter the contest and who are in the contest district repeat the question. This is to be done by the student who has failed to enter the contest.

Question 1—Who is the President of the United States regarded as one of the most outstanding contributions to American history?

Question 2—What is the history of the world?

Question 3—What is the history of the United States?

Question 4—What is the most important piece of advice given Washington in his Farewell Address?

Question 5—What was the occasion and the definite objective of President James Monroe when he announced the Monroe Doctrine?

Question 6—What is the outstanding American figure in the War of 1812, and who was the outstanding American figure in the War of 1812?

Question 7—What is the most frequently quoted sentence from Lincoln's Gettysburg speech and why?

RECEPTION IN BOSTON
A reception in Boston will be arranged for the two girls and ten boys who submit the best answers to these questions and those that follow. This will give them an opportunity to meet each other.

At this reception they will be presented to the board of judges and invited guests from the families of Massachusetts colleges and universities.

Before leaving Boston they will enjoy a visit to the Boston Evening American plant, where they will have opportunity to meet editors and members of the staff.

Touring the plant they will see various machines and equipment, etc., employed in the making of a newspaper.

Then they will board Pullman for the trip to Washington, in brief stop in New York.

At the national capital they will stay at the hotel where, where renovations have already been made for them.

RECEPTION IN CAPITAL
Sitting with senators, congressmen and the general public the two girls and ten boys will be welcomed into the second term of office by the first lady, Mrs. Wood.

But other enjoyable occasions will include the luncheon at one of the leading hotels, a long automobile trip about Washington and the surrounding country, an evening party dinner given by the Washington Herald and other reception times that will make the national capital the most joyous city in the world.

All communications relative to the free trip to Washington for high school students should be addressed to:

Roosevelt Inauguration Tour Competition, Boston Evening American, 5 Witherspoon square, Boston.

QUESTION — NO. 7—What was the historical importance of President Grover Cleveland's message to the Venezuela complication?

Answers of high school students must be limited to 100 words.

GROVER CLEVELAND, whose affirmative Americanism as President of the United States becomes the subject of the seventh question of the series of ten in the Roosevelt Inauguration Tour Competition for Massachusetts High School students.

RULES OF CONTEST

Here are the rules for the Roosevelt Inauguration Tour Competition for Massachusetts High School students.

1—The Boston Evening American is publishing 10 questions dealing with subjects of American history. The best answers to these questions will earn the writers five trips to Washington to see the inauguration of President Roosevelt. The awards will be made to 10 boys and 10 girls in high schools throughout the state. Answers to each of the 10 questions must not be over 100 words.

2—The questions are being published daily for 10 days—from Wednesday, December 25, until Saturday, December 3, 1934. Answers must not be submitted separately.

3—The deadline for the receipt of entries will be midnight, Sunday, December 15. Entries mailed will be received if they bear postmarks not later than midnight of that date. A Board of Judges will pass on all entries, and their decisions shall be final and not subject to appeal.

Communications relative to the contest should be addressed as follows:

Roosevelt Inauguration Tour Competition, Boston Evening American, 5 Witherspoon square, Boston.

POLICE BLOCK DOCK BATTLE

Under the watchful eyes of a heavy detail of police and members of the police cadet squad, some 5000 men gathered today to witness the annual "dock battle" between the Boston Police and the Boston Dockers.

The dockers, asserting they were acting under orders from the union headquarters in New York, immediately began to unload packages from the freighter Mobile City, one of the ships tied up by the police.

When the dockers, numbering about 500, walked through their lines without incident, the police divided another crew of dockers, who were to be sent to the Boston docks.

A previous attempt of dockers to unload the Mobile City was blocked when the police kept the workers off the dock.

Today, however, Joseph P. Donohue, president of the Boston Dockers' Union, declared they would not be "swept out of the dock."

GIRL TEACHER WINS PRIZE JOB

WILL TUTOR DIONNE QUINS

Windsor, Ont., Dec. 3 (PNS)—One of the most coveted teaching positions in the world—in the Dionne quinquuplets—today was held by a 26-year-old Windsor girl who, when she was the size of her famous little pupils, had "a huge collection of dolls."

Assigned to the Dionne babies by the Ontario Minister of Public Affairs, Donald Stewart, who is now a member of the House of Commons, she was the first teacher to be assigned to the Dionne babies.

Only two months ago the quints' nurse, Miss Mary Tremblay, was teaching in a classroom school in Sandwich, Ont. She resigned her position there early in October and went to the St. George Hotel, Toronto, to take a special course in children's education.

She was recommended by her close friend, Jacqueline Nott, who is now a nurse at the Dufferin Hospital at Windsor.

FIRST TASTE WINS THOUSANDS TO NEW BANANA DISCOVERY

Boston Women Enjoy Bananas Cooked New Quick Way

NEW DISH WINS GIRLS IN "NEW FACES"

BOSTON—Bananas of bananas rush to the piers to give all Boston a chance to taste that new food sensation, crispy-crunchy Banana Scallops. Thousands of local women have sampled this new dish at cooking schools, food fairs, clubs and store demonstrations. Thousands more will have their first taste soon.

Grocers are hustling to keep bananas on hand for all the women who hurry home to try this unusual new dish. And you don't have to wait for the "banana sampler" to come your way. The recipe for this new food sensation is right on this page. Taste the taste—you'll agree with hundreds of other Boston women: "Here's something new and good to eat." Try your family tonight to Banana Scallops.

AT THE SHUBERT—pretty girls in "New Faces" approve the rare flavor of new dish, Banana Scallops. Like chorus girls everywhere, they keep it, too, on that trend-to-slim-figure, banana and milk.

EASY TO MAKE, HERE'S HOW

Says Miss Lindman

"Banana Scallops are simple to make," says Miss Ida Lindman, nationally known home economist. Here's the recipe:

INGREDIENTS: Melted fat or oil, 1 egg, 1½ teaspoons salt, 6 bananas, 1 cup fine corn flake crumbs, bread or cracker crumbs, or corn meal.

METHOD: For shallow frying, fry 1 inch of melted fat in fry deep pan. For deep-fat frying, have kettle 1½ to 2½ of melted fat or oil. Heat fat to 375° F. (or until a 1-inch cube of bread will brown in 40 seconds.)

Beat egg and add salt. Slice peeled bananas crosswise into 1-inch-thick pieces. Dip into salted beaten egg and roll in crumbs or corn meal. Shallow fry or deep-fat fry in the hot fat 1½ to 2 minutes or until brown and tender. Drain on unglazed paper. Serve very hot. Six servings.

HUSKY PLANE PILOTS COME BACK FOR MORE

IT'S A BIG JOB—piloting an American Airlines 21-passenger flagship from Boston to Newark in 78 minutes. But it has its compensations, agree Ray Jones, first pilot, and Arthur Tappan, second pilot, when a Meloripe "banana sampler" treats them to Banana Scallops.

"Well, let's have some more," they say. Tip to wives: Mrs. everywhere approve this unusual dish.

Tragedy in Ward B,
Dobie and Murdock
Play Grimmiest Game

LINEN SCREENS, SHOULDER HIGH encircled the cot in Surgical Ward B where Gil Dobie flailed his long arms over a blood-flecked coverlet. The gray head which had been so full of plans for the future and happiness for a well done task, was a spider web of grimy wounds. The can, factious law which had snapped its last between the commands on Saturday afternoon, was brown and bound by long, of E and G. The thin lips, so spring of words, were charred rims around a toothy smile. Gil's body was cramped with suffering.

It was a grimy, grimy, grimy scene. The patient's head and hands were soiled with blood and sweat. The nurse, a woman with a stern expression, stood by the cot, her hands on her hips. The room was dimly lit, with a single lamp casting a pool of light on the cot. The air was thick with the smell of disinfectant and blood.

This morning Dobie's shoulders leaned on elbows and propped up his head. He was looking at the nurse with a look of defiance. "I'll be all right," he said. "I'll be all right."

It was a tragic morning for Dobie. He was a young man, full of life and energy, but now he was a shadow of his former self. The nurse looked at him with a sad expression. "You're a brave man," she said. "But you're hurt."

He looked at her with a look of defiance. "I'm not hurt," he said. "I'm not hurt."

Connelly's Ring Aspirations Wrecked

Frankie Connelly, Boston heavyweight, was the third local fighter to lose to the New York Heavyweight champion, Max Baer, in the first round of a ten round encounter with a short left hook and a muzzing right hand smother to the jaw. Connelly attempted to rise at the count of eight, but fell back, much to the amusement of a capacity crowd.

That is the latest advice to Connelly, who is now in the hospital. He is expected to be discharged in a few days.

Auburndale Man Meets Adventure in One Big Jump

By FLOYD GIBBONS

HELLO EVERYBODY:

These adventure yarns you boys and girls are sending me are making me happier than a million dollars.

Why, every time I open one of your letters there's a "Lady Adventure" staring at me from some new place.

It's getting on now that I look under my pillow every night before hitting the hay. Yes, sir, I've got the "Heebie-Jeebies."

You know, I've chased this Adventure through the Sahara, in airplanes, sports cars, on foot, in a subway—she and I have had our great game of hide-and-seek. I've seen Kenneth M. Elk of 1234 Main street, Auburndale, bumped right into her while he was playing hide-and-seek with two other gals.

I'm bound for burns from California, from 'let out of the hospital in Calcutta and a whole lot of other places.

But this is my last look-see with Adventure.

Floyd Gibbons will pay good money for good "TRUE" adventures. Hundreds of people in Boston and nearby towns have received ten-dollar and hundred-dollar bills for their yarns, and there's no reason why you can't do the same, for, as Floyd says, everybody has had at least one adventure. Mrs. Florence Abbott of Beverly won one hundred and ten dollars for the story of her life's biggest moment, and you can do the same. For more facts, see the box at the right side of the page.

HIRING
Of Labor
VIEWED

HIGHER

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKESYER
Copyright, 1936, Universal Service
New York, Dec. 3.—

New fashions in the direction of higher wages and salaries should create a bull market for educational courses related to vocational guidance.

With wage scales higher, employers will be more discriminating in seeking individual workers in the field of their hire. They will no longer feel that they can afford the luxury of hit-or-miss personnel selection methods.

As I. P. O. Chairman, president of the Union of Commercial and General Employees recently remarked in an interview, "The new wage scale should be a kind of a substitute for the old."

By the same token, things more expensive than management will be more discriminating in the selection of personnel. Management will be more discriminating in the selection of personnel. Management will be more discriminating in the selection of personnel.

The cost of labor is measured not only by rising wage rates, but by the additional period required to place an employee under the Federal Social Security Act and the state unemployment insurance laws.

To the companies which sell business makes with the word of business, there is no increased effort to absorb new profits in increased productivity. One of the determinants to pay for social benefits through the situation of the business is the wage rate rather than the hope for action, rather than the hope for action.

When employers pay higher minimum wages, they are inclined to expect a better quality of work. Incidentally, one natural incident to the feasibility of expanding the payroll is the order in which the business is able to do so. The business is able to do so in the order in which the business is able to do so.

As minimum wages are introduced by direct negotiation or by legislation, the social system will rise in the order in which the business is able to do so. The business is able to do so in the order in which the business is able to do so.

TODAY'S NEW YORK CURB MARKET

LEWIS HANEY SAYS

Labor Question
MOST SERIOUS PROBLEM
In America Today

By LEWIS HANEY
(Professor of Economics, New York University)

New York, Dec. 3.—Unquestionably, the gravest domestic problem in our country is the labor question. If any internal condition is to precipitate a business setback, it is likely to be the strikes and the increased expense for labor, which are a growing factor.

Like most economists, I am a sincere believer in the principle of collective bargaining. Labor organizations is essential to make the labor market a real market.

It takes two parties, however, to make a bargain. Unless each bargainer recognizes the rights of the other, the performance is not true bargaining. It becomes compulsion and violence may result.

In the past, employers have often violated this principle. At present, it seems that the danger is that organized labor will be the violator.

I say this as a friend of labor. The true friend is not one who puts you on the back and tells you that you are really "the whole works," but that you are being abused.

The true friend is one who tells you the truth, and advises you as to what you cannot do, as well as to what you can do. It is not the fact that all are partly right, in that each class is essential to production, but that each is wrong in thinking that it is "the whole works."

Capitalist employers are apt to think that they are the whole works. And from the days of the first Socialist, some laborers have thought that labor is the whole works.

We need to stop and think this thing through. Clearly, all these views can't be right.

It is not the fact that all are partly right, in that each class is essential to production, but that each is wrong in thinking that it is "the whole works."

Just now organized labor has gained increased political power, so it is inclined to be arbitrary, and to try to dictate instead of bargain. I, for one, do not fear losing hard consequences from this situation as long as laborers think straight.

As labor gains bargaining power, it should gain in power to bargain wisely. Therefore, it is timely to point out some of the lessons that economics has to teach.

One of these lessons is that labor alone can do but little. Labor has to work along with land, capital goods (such as machinery), and organized direction, if it is to produce much. Labor alone cannot possibly make a machine for the raw materials must come from the land and someone first must save so that laborers can live while building the machine. Once the machine is made, a fund has to be set aside to replace it as it wears out. The one who attends to that is doing something that is necessary, but is not labor.

Another lesson is that all economic incomes must come out of products made. If laborers are paid more than they contribute to produce, then they are not being paid wages for labor. Rather, they are getting incomes through political power as a privileged class.

This would mean the arbitrary use of political power to take unearned income. Immediately it would mean class conflict. Eventually, it would mean reduced efficiency in production, and lower standards of living.

You see, land, labor, capital and enterprise have to work together. Laborers may own capital and land, and may direct the enterprise, under productive "cooperation"; but the capital itself has to be saved and maintained by someone, and the risks of the enterprise still have to be met.

HEAVY
Dividend
INFLUX

TO FOREIGNERS
IN U. S. MARKET

Washington, Dec. 3 (U.S.)—Foreigners, speculating and investing in American securities will reap around 300 millions in dividends and interest in the current year, but will pay the United States 300 millions in taxes, treasury and commerce department figures yesterday revealed.

Profits on rising values of stocks and bonds bought by foreigners within the past two years were estimated to have amounted to 200 millions.

Foreigners paid more than 200 millions into American securities markets during the past two years, the figures revealed.

More than 200 millions were estimated to have been spent in the market since August 1, by foreign investors seeking to collect interest dividends being declared by corporations.

In 1935, dividend and interest to foreigners in American securities aggregated 140 millions.

Meanwhile, Internal Revenue Commissioner, C. T. Henshaw, as part of regulations governing the collection of a tax of 30 per cent on all dividends paid to foreigners by American corporations.

Corporations will be required to withhold the levy for the government and pay the balance to foreign investors before December 31, in order to get credit under the unified corporate surplus law, the regulation provides.

The Treasury expects to collect 30 millions of the foreigners' profits as a result of the regulation, experts said.

GAIN IN WOOL

Blanket Imports

Current statistics of the United States Department of Commerce illustrate the sharp rise that has taken place this season in the imports of wool blankets. During the first nine months of this year the shipments of wool blankets, robes and slippers rose to 120,000 pounds, as compared with 122,475 pounds during the same period of 1935, an increase of 30 per cent.

In terms of dollars, the value of these imports during the first nine months of 1936 was $239,062, compared with $182,327 for the first nine months of last year, an increase of 31 per cent.

Bar Gold

London, Dec. 3 (AP)—Bar gold prices rose 1/2 penny to $124.75 (setting price equivalent to $124.75).

Bank Clearings Up
13.1 Per Cent
In Week

New York, Dec. 3 (AP)—Bank clearings in 22 working cities totaled $1,013,000,000 during the 13-day week ending December 2, Down 3.6 from $1,052,000,000 in the week ended November 29.

This was a gain of 12.1 per cent over $902,000,000 in the same 13-day week a year ago. Last week clearings were 12.1 per cent ahead of the 1935 comparable.

All major city clearings registered $1,013,000,000, or 14.8 per cent below those in the same week last year. The total of outside clearing of $120,000,000 was an increase of 10.2 per cent.

All major cities, with the exception of New Orleans, San Francisco and Seattle showed increases over 1935. Pittsburgh, with a gain of 27.7 per cent, was in the lead. Clearings at Chicago totaled $200,000,000, a gain of 7.4 per cent over $186,000,000 in the same week in 1935.

Stock Transfer Tax

Stock transfer tax stamp sales in Massachusetts in November amounted to $274,000, against $27,000 a year ago.

Wall St. Hears

New York, Dec. 3 (INS)—That Continental Oil (C.O.) earnings for the year are estimated at around $2.5 a share, against $1.7 in 1935. That last-half operations of General Salt Castings (G.S.) will be the first six months.

That no change in the 33 annual dividend rate of the Core Exchange Bank Trust is contemplated.

Wall Street Sidelights

New York, Dec. 3.—The new tax on undivided profits, which is forcing corporations to pay out a record dividend flow before the year-end, may have just the reverse effect in the early part of next year, according to Bhoadra & Co., Stock Exchange members.

The Street feels that corporations' management may start to pay very little in dividends early in the year as a precaution against suspending the course of the full year's earnings, thereby applying the British system of paying first small interim dividends with a final outlay being made when the year's accounts are in.

Financial circles have long frowned upon the necessity of lavish corporate dividend plans, and only on the ground that they create a false sense of prosperity. Higher stock prices induced by larger dividend distributions, rather than earnings, they feel, obviously transfer the market from solid ground to thin ice.

Therefore market observers feel that, while stocks are being buoyed by present money dividends, they may become vulnerable to a sudden drop in the early part of 1937.

Warner Quinlan Plan Agreement

Reports were current yesterday that a majority of creditor groups of Warner Quinlan have reached an agreement on major details of a plan of reorganization. The plan is understood to be built around an offer made by Gulf Oil Corp. to purchase Warner Quinlan service stations for $11,500,000. It will provide that bondholders shall receive not less than 25 cents in cash per dollar and income bonds and preferred stock for the balance of their claims. Common stockholders are expected to be offered stock warrants to purchase new common at a rate still undetermined.

New Equipment Records Seen

A flood of new railroad equipment and steel rail orders during the past fortnight may hang up the delivery of the equipment trade indicators. Already commitments during the first year for freight cars, locomotives and rails are destined to be the largest since 1930. With heavy orders now being placed to avoid possibility of higher prices in the near future, such orders for November, the month in which the new figures are current, may set all-time monthly records. The picture of yesterday's orders were filed by Atchafalaya, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroads.

State Bank Board
Recommended
By Pierce

Establishment of a banking board within the state division of banks and insurance, and inclusion of double liability of stockholders of Massachusetts trust companies were among the recommendations made to the State Legislature today by State Banking Commissioner Henry M. Pierce.

Other recommendations made by Commissioner Pierce are:

Removal of the distinction between paid-up shares and matured shares of cooperative banks.

Removal of limitations on the making of "direct reduction loans" by cooperative banks.

Provision for the granting of membership in the federal deposit insurance corporation without requiring the purchase of stock of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston and subordination of the federal deposit insurance corporation to certain rights after the payment of insured deposits.

Removal of restrictions with respect to borrowing by the bank commissioner for the purpose of paying dividends in closed banks under the jurisdiction of the bank commissioner.

As increase in the amount of deposit upon which dividend may be paid without the necessity of administration.

25 Years Ago

New York, Dec. 3 (INS)—An action broke to $3.25 on the stock market today. A 100-point advance dropped to 11 from 211 in the previous week.
